Q & A

One question we get often is, "what all comes with our puppy?"

Our puppies come with:

1. snuggle puppy (to help with crate training)
2. a scented blanket
3. a door bell (to help with potty training, they're already started on it)
4. a new bag of puppy food
5. birth certificate
6. 1 year health guarantee
7. basic training packet & spay/neuter contract
8. puppy packet with potty training, grooming, crate training, and introduction tips
9. started on crate training
10. 2 rounds of vaccinations
11. age appropriate worming
12. started on heart guard
13. microchipped
14. lifetime of support
15. clear vet check

When choosing a breeder here are a few things to keep in mind,

Well-bred puppies don't come at a discount.

It might be tempting to look for a cheap puppy, but this approach could be costly in vet bills, behavioral issues, or heartache. Invest in the health and well-being of your companion and support good programs— but remember, price alone doesn't indicate how responsible a source is.

good dog

If working with a responsible source means taking a little extra time in your search, then it's well worth the wait— for you, for your companion, and for the dog world at large.

Setting Our Puppies up for success

To achieve our goal of setting our puppies up for success, we take a number of steps to ensure that they are well-prepared for their new homes. Here are some of the things we do:

- Socialization: We expose our puppies to different age groups, animals, and environments to help them develop into well-adjusted and confident dogs.

- Training: Our puppies receive basic training, such as crate training and potty training, before they go to their new homes.
- Health checks: We make sure that our puppies are up-to-date on all necessary vaccinations and have been checked by a veterinarian before they go home.
- Communication: We stay in touch with our puppy buyers to provide support and answer any questions they may have as they adjust to life with their new furry family member.

By taking these steps, we hope to make the transition into your home as smooth and stress-free as possible for both you and your new puppy.
